At Quality Uptime Services, we believe that it's important to support the communities where we do business. As the 2015 holiday season loomed on the horizon, we looked to our employees – the people that live and work here in Brookfield – for ideas on ways to give back to the community. As usual, our staff members are where we get some of our best ideas.

Two of our Field Service Engineers, Jeff and Paul Peterson, are members of a statewide club, the Raging Knights Firefighters MC™, that is generally made up of military, career, volunteer and retired firefighters. The club's 36 members are dedicated to reaching out to others in times of need, and they participate in a variety of charitable events throughout the year. Since more than half of our staff is ex-military, partnering with the Knights seemed like a good fit.

With help from the Regional YMCA of Western Connecticut, the group identified nine families in need. On Sunday, December 13th, the Knights held their 4th Annual Toy, Food and Clothing Drive. Donations were gathered at the event to provide each of the nine families with a holiday meal and toys for the children.

At Quality Uptime Services, we recognize that corporations matter when it comes to charitable donations, and sometimes contributions from local businesses are a big piece of the pie. The toy drive was a worthwhile endeavor that helped to promote the welfare of the members of our community. As such, we were proud to donate $1,000 to the campaign, and we look forward to participating in similar events in the future.
